

ABSTRACT

A film-like, active substance-containing preparation for application in the oral cavity or for transmucosal application is characterized in that the preparation has a peroxide number that is maximally 40.